Why do you have to be, everything I need
I can't believe what's falling from your mouth
Why did you have to go and tell me that you know
This ain't gonna work out likely

If we survive the winter we might be around for spring
If I survive myself, I'll survive anything

She says, we're like Mona Lisa
Shattered on the ground into a million little pieces
It's gone and gone around so long
I don't know what we're doing anymore
What we're fighting for

Where's this coming from
Is it just another one of your demons throwing doubts on you
Cause I had my hopes up, and I let my guard down
Baby I let you in, I can't do that again

If we survive tomorrow, you know it's another day
If we survive each other, we might find a way to stay

She says, we're like Mona Lisa
Shattered on the ground into a million little pieces
It's gone and gone around so long
I don't know what we're doing anymore
What we're fighting for, what are we fighting for

How messed up it was, when I let you be my everything
It's been broken, now there's nothing left from everything, yeah

Well she says, we're like Mona Lisa
Shattered on the ground into a million little pieces
It's gone and gone around so long
I don't know what we're doing anymore

She says, we're like Mona Lisa
Shattered on the ground into a million little pieces
It's gone and gone around so long

I don't know what we're doing anymore
What we're fighting for, what are we fighting for, yeah
