Here we go again, another night of being bombed
I can tell myself I'll avoid this time and cancel plans with everyone
I know cause this is how it always ends Our bond will break cause you can't relate to anyone-to anything at all
You brought your worst and I'm right here
Though I've seen it all and it's never been so clear

You're not the person that I knew back then It's not to late to set this right cause everything has been
You're not the person that I knew back then Lets try and act like this didn't happen
You something your friends like you ever had them

You still know me, still not cut out for this sort of thing Never wanna be caught in between, I need constant reminders of everything
So what It's who I am, I played it off so well I just hid it no matter how I been So nobody, nobody can tell
You brought your worst and I'm right here
Though I've seen it all and it's never been so clear

You're not the person that I knew back then

It's not to late to set this right cause everything has
You're not the person that I knew back then
Let's try and act like this didn't happen
You something your friends like you ever had them

I won't sleep till the break of dawn break of dawn
I can't wear our problems from in here So everybody come on

You brought your worst and I'm right here and I've seen it all and it's never been so clear

You're not the person that I knew back then

It's not to late to set this right cause everything has
You're not the person that I knew back then
Let's try and act like this didn't happen
You something your friends like you ever had them

You're not the person that I knew back then It's not to late to set this right cause everything has
You're not the person that I knew back then
Let's try and act like this didn't happen
You something your friends like you ever had them
