The world I disowned so long ago
Has come back to eat me alive
Forced to surrender to the future I feared
I can't take it much longer here

I don't want the attention I used to long for
The lights now burn me like the sun
Go away

I suppose I've sealed my own fate
Never imagined it would be like this
All of the eyes I used to want watching
Now glaring like a curse with a death stare

I don't want the attention I used to long for
The lights now burn me like the sun
Go away

Strange how the table's turned
What I dreamed of now drives me mad
Fucking hate this position I'm in
I don't want your admiration
I hate how you idolize me
I only wish for isolation

I don't want the attention I used to long for
The lights now burn me like the sun
I don't want the attention I used to long for
The lights now burn me like the sun
Go away
Go away
Go away
