Dystopian Revisionist History:

We have perfected the shortcomings of primitive man
The imperfections of human nature withered
In its place the glory of manufactured evolution
Perfection wears a flawless smile
Here in this greatest nation

The distrustful guises of the emotions
Tempered by the wild recklessness of the past
We have learned to disregard the inconvenience
Of impulse and reactionary shame
In solidarity

We are all one and the same
For the sake of community
We are all one and the same
Homogenized in unity
All one and the same
Designed for a promising perfection
We are all one and the same for some greater good

Derogatory history with which we dissociate
Biological family not necessary here
A shining bright utopia of achievement
A beacon of hope for a shameless dead humanity

We rewrote history
We rewrote history
We rewrote history
We rewrote history to save you from yourselves

Predetermined future for you
There's no choice to make for yourself in here
So smile big here in a utopia
Dystopian revisionist pass time

We are all one and the same
For the sake of community
We are all one and the same
Bound in conformity

All one and the same
Condemned to predestination
We are all one and the same for some fucking reason
A reason not of my own

Maintain the status quo
Sustain our supremacy
Maintain the status quo
Remain in conformity
Maintain the status quo
Disregard your complacency
Maintain the status quo
Remain in conformity
Maintain the status quo
Maintain the status quo
Maintaining the status quo

We are all one and the same
For the sake of community
We are all one and the same
Genetically engineered
All one and the same
Born into manipulation
We are all one and the same
We are all one and the same
We are all one and the same
We are all one and the same
We are all one and the same
