"Ghost"

I feel the things I said
But never said how I felt

I know I waited much too long

Could I get it in your head

Without a head full of doubt
Looking back it seems that I

Went about it all wrong

Lying alone in the bed we made
Watching headlights on the shades

The ghosts that sleeping by your side

Are my promises to you that died

To you that died

Wasn't long ago
When forever was our friend

But now freedom's what I feel inside

It hurts so much to let you go

To know we'll never touch again
When I walk if I fall down

Can I take it in stride

Lying alone in the bed we made
Watching headlights on the shades

The ghosts that sleeping by your side

Are my promises to you that died

To you that died

I might let you go, but i'll never go away

I might let you go, but i'll never go away...yeah

I feel the things I said

But never said how I felt
I know I waited much too long

Lying alone in the bed we made

Watching headlights on the shades

The ghosts that sleeping by your side

Are my promises to that died
Lying alone in the bed we made

Watching headlights on the shades

The ghosts that sleeping by your side

Are my promises to you that died

To you that died

To you that died.
