These are the prayers of faith we have lost.
Turning our backs on what we thought we would die for.

We don't need your forgiveness.
We've found a reason to sing so let us pray.

We are the ones you've forsaken.
Chocking each breathe we have taken.
We are no longer afraid to fall from illusions of grace.
So let us pray.

We are the product of constant resistance.
We'll burn our bridges to die in the flames.
We don't need your forgiveness.
We found a reason to sing so let us pray.

We are the ones you've forsaken.
Chocking each breathe we have taken.
We are no longer afraid to fall from illusions of grace.
So let us pray.
We will not give you our conscienceness.
We will be damned if you take us alive.
We will not give you our conscienceness.
We will be damned if you take us alive.
So let us pray.

We are the ones you've forsaken.
Chocking each breathe we have taken.
We are no longer afraid to fall from illusions of grace.
So let us pray.

We are the ones you've forsaken.
Chocking each breathe we have taken.
We are no longer afraid to fall from illusions of grace.
So let us pray.
