You try to answer slow
You put your head down low
C'mon take your time
Try to choose the most believable lie

You try to walk away
And tell me everything's okay
You think you're are saved by words
But you're drowning in the absurd, yeah

But to me, it's no big surprise
You thought I never saw your eyes

Departed with a smile
Just like walking down the isle
You shook the preacher's hand
But your smile can't hide your sin, yeah

Your eyes tell me what you feel
Your eyes tell me what is real
Nobody's perfect is your prediction
Your life is proving your conviction

But to me, it's no big surprise
You thought I never saw your eyes

But to me, it's no big surprise
You thought I never saw your eyes

But to me, it's no big surprise
You thought I never saw your eyes

To me, it's no big surprise
I saw the emptiness in your eyes
