Taking it back in time you know there's something on my mind because you're thinking it's all over but you know it's gona last I got you wondering what the fuck is going on why there's no one i can blame for all the things i did before So take it back, Take it back once again Don't be a prisoner of reality and fuck the voices in your head that say you're fucked up when there's nothing wrong with you they're just trying to put you down trying to give you some abuse.

Like a speeding freight train I'm trying to get away from all the memories Burning in my head
No turning back
No Go.

Like a living, endless nightmare where the choices never end insecurity threatens to take it all away Don't ever leave me alone.
