He's sitting locked up all alone
Staring at an empty wall
Takes a last drag from his smoke
Before he drops it on the floor

He doesn't know what week it is
Or even if it's day or night
It doesn't matter cause to him
They're only different shades of grey

So many questions still no answers
Please save me now

[Chorus:]
Can someone show me the way
Tell me where I went wrong
I can not find the path on my own
Can someone show me the way
Cause I'm so sick of it all
I want to live please don't let me fall

He used to be so self-assured
Always knew just what to say
But that was long ago his world is now
Just different shades of grey
