It all began this morning
When I woke up in my bed
And realized I lay there with a smile
All the problems I remembered
Having yesterday
Suddenly just seemed to be so far away
I can't recall the last time
I got out of bed and smiled
I was satisfied, content and happy
I felt so alive

[Chorus:]
Have you ever felt that everything
Is going your way
And that everything turns out
Just as you planned
Have you ever had a day
When it feels like you're invincible
When you're not just a
Scum of the land
Today I'm the king

Later at the corner shop
A man was raving mad
Because the toothpaste on sale had run out
The poor cute girl who for the moment
Served as cashier
Seemed to struggle really hard to keep herself from tears
And even though I honestly
Felt sorry for the girl
I couldn't help but smile and think
It's not my problems not my world
