The day we met yeah I remember it so well
One look was all it took to put me under your spell
How could I ever come to be so damn naive
How could I ever be so blinded by you
I hate the things you make me do

[Chorus:]

I try so hard to get away
From you and your addictive way
But I just can't find the strength to break free from you
I try so hard to stay away
But I'm addicted I'm your slave
I just can't find the strength to break free from you

It seems as if you always know just what to say
You pull my strings and twist my mind to get it your way
Although I know that you will always be the same
I just can't seem to get you out of my head
Sometimes I wish that I was dead

It feels as if you know exactly what to say
You pull my strings and twist my mind just to get things
Your way
