At the beginning of the 21st century, the Umbrella Corporation had become the largest commercial entity in the United States.
Nine out of every ten homes contain its products.
It's political and financial influence is felt everywhere.
In public, it is the world's leading supplier of computer
technology,
medical products, and healthcare.
Unknown, even to its own employees, it's massive profits are generated by military
technology,
genetic experimentation and viral weaponry.
