On a television screen, visions of hatred
Unlashed and deceived
A man lashes out this fistful of anger so caught up in his own beliefs
The revolution will be televised
This time around it will be bought and soaked Don't switch, don't shed it out
The truth can hurt, but now it must be told

I hear voices lying, victims dying, mothers crying, in the street
They won't stop lying, we won't stop trying
We have to live a life of peace in this world
Will you take the hand of ya fellow man, in this world
Only you believe what your eyes can see, in this world
Will you take the hand of ya fellow man, in this world
Only you believe what your eyes can see, in this world

This world

A shot brings out on a busy street lots of chaos destruction and despair
A crowd gathers there full of hate and fear, for a world that doesn't care There's refugees, the same as me, but just ahead in a fugue of time
The differences a world finding never let to show us like mine

I hear voices lying, victims dying, mothers crying in the street
They won't stop lying, we won't stop trying
We have to live a life of peace in this world
Will you take the hand of ya fellow man, in this world
Only you believe what your eyes can see, in this world
Understand that is why we believe it's right, in this world
Will you take the hand of ya fellow man, in this world

There's a story talked about the risking for to find a better way

We can sell money force, together strong, we'll reach up by the day

Now if you can see how it's meant to be, there's a price to pay for a better day

They won't stop lying, we won't stop trying

We have to live a life of peace in this world

Understand that is why we believe it's right, in this

Will you take the hand of ya fellow man, in this world
