Little twitches got me wondering
Darling, as that fear await
You're stuttering, it must be something
You said, you said, you say

But I doubt you saw it coming
Where were you with all the answers?

You lie
(It suits the fame but I'm not listening)
You lie
(Mixed your words about your history)

Don't lie
(Sell your story, still you try to)
So lie
(Scare me down)
But I'm not buying

I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector

Naivety has taught you one thing
For killing lily blues for you
But darling has forgot to conceal
The truth, the truth, so true

But I doubt you saw it coming
Where were you with all the answers?

You lie
(It suits the fame but I'm not listening)
You lie
(Mixed your words about your history)
Don't lie
(Sell your story, still you try to)
So lie
(Scare me down)
But I'm not buying

I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector

But I sense you're after something
And I see through your scam
You cannot pull one over my eyes
'Cause I'm seeing it too, yes

Said you're grand fatal semantic
To tell the truth would breach your ethics

You lie
(It suits the fame but I'm not listening)
You lie
(Mixed your words about your history)

Don't lie
(Sell your story, still you try to)
So lie
(Scare me down)
But I'm not buying

I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector

I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
I'm turning on my lie detector
