Mankind in his insatiable search for divine Knowledge has discarded all biblical teachings Realizing that the strength of religion is the repression of knowledge
All structures of religion have collapsed

Life prays for death in the wake of the horror of these revelations

It was never imagined how graphic the reality that would be known as the end of creation
Would manifest itself
We believe all this chaos and atrocity can be traced Back to one single event
We hold
these truths to be painfully self-evident All men are not created equal
Only the strong will prosper
Only the strong will conquer Only in the darkness of Christ have I realized
God Hates Us All
