Late nights we stay awake
Talkin' 'bout the plans we made
To drop everything
Distorted phone calls end too fast
But it's not enough to forget the past
Why can't we be friends?

CHORUS:

So now I'm gonna press my luck
And get all that you're worth for
Wasting my time
And if I happen to come back home
And you're still there all alone
Take another drink before your luck runs dry

Sober up, you're all alone now
Time's run out nowhere to call home now
What do you have to call your own?
Distorted phone calls end too soon
And this awkward silence drowns out the room
Why can't we be friends?

CHORUS

Wake up on summer mornings
To the sound of me and Jordan
Writing songs about ex-girlfriends,
Writing songs about last weekend

But summer's over, the morning's colder,
The nights are longer, I wanna call her,
A waste of time but I really miss it
80 days and my life is... different
