So sometimes the world can get you down
Just take a step back and look all around
Look back at your life and what you have
Look forward and see all the closure you found

Always look on the brightside
Always face the world and smile
Always look on the brightside
Because when other people are feeling down
Your smile will spread all around

So don't let the world tear you apart
Remember, you have a heart
That can repair itself from any blow
So just put on that smile and go

Always look on the brightside
Always face the world and smile
Always look on the brightside
Because when other people are feeling down
Your smile will spread all around
