Oh yeah!

I've been thinking now for a while
With you, I've got exactly what I need
When I see you stop and turning around
And now you got me sh-sh-shaking in my teeth

I can't afford the kind of love you sell
But I can't afford to ever watch you leave
Won't you come and put your sugar on my tongue
You've got your spell on me

And how could I leave this life to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I said
And how could I leave you heart to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I did

I'm the only one who knows the secret places that the lights don't show
(That the lights don't show)

No!

I can't afford the kind of love you own
But I sure as hell could never let you go
Every time I start to tell you no
And then you go and take off all your clothes

And how could I leave this life to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I said
And how could I leave you heart to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I've done
Those things that I've done
Yeah!

I know what no one else knows
Sure as hell can never let you go
No I won't let you
Go

Hey, hey, hey, hey

Hey, hey, hey, hey

Move!

And how could I leave this life to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I said
And how could I leave you heart to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I've done

And how could I leave this life to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I said
And how could I leave you heart to another one
Take back, I'll take back those things that I've done

Oh!
