A - - - men. A - - - men.

It's over
we've come to the end now

Over
I'm sorry to see love die.
It's over
let's try to stay friends now

Over
we just couldn't live a lie.

For the promises that we would stay together
Requiem

We were living in a world of never never

Nothing
nothing is for ever

This is a Requiem. Requiem
Requiem.

This is in memory of a million chances

Baby we've had our share.
This could have been one of the great romances

Not just a mad affair.
I still have my souvenirs of special places

And I'll remember them.
But our game is over and we've played our aces

This is a wreck. Oh what a wreck. This a Requiem.

A - - - men.

It's over
and there's nothing to say now

Over
the magic is finally gone.
It's over
there's no other way now

Over
it just can't go on and on.

Now the time has really come to give up trying
. . . Requiem

And to finish with the cheating and the lying

It's doomed
it's damned
it's dying

This is a Requiem
Requiem
Requiem.

This is in memory of a million chances . . .
