My clothes may be old and look ragged
As I lie 'neath the stars by the bend
As I dream there is one consolation
I have a King for a friend

But He's just the one who made the mountains
He's just the one who lights the stars
He's just the one who sends the sunshine
He's just the one who made the flowers
He's just the one who hangs the rainbows
He's just the one who placed the pearls
He's just the King of Kings in Heaven
He's just the one who made the world

Oh I'm tired and I'm weary from roamin'
And this dusty road, it never seems to end
But I wouldn't even want to go on living
If I didn't have a King for a friend

But He's just the one who made the mountains
He's just the one who lights the stars
He's just the one who sends the sunshine
He's just the one who made the flowers
He's just the one who hangs the rainbows
He's just the one who placed the pearls
He's just the King of Kings in Heaven
He's just the one who made the world

He's just the one who made the mountains
He's just the one who made the world for us all
He's just the one who made the world
