These are the walls, that will border my world now. these are the corners, where I can retire. these are the streets, I will slowly explore right now. these are the clouds, that belong to my sky now. these are the frames, right in front of my eyes. this is what they would call freedom, right here, right now. these are the feelings, I don't want to keep like a secret. these are the words, I don't need to explain. these are my hopes, I don't enjoy like a breakfast now. please stop missing me. stop missing me. stop missing me now... please stop missing me. stop missing me. stop missing me now... these are containers for all my desires now. these are the strangers, I want to discover. these are the news, I don't want you to hear. some situations, I don't really want to know. please stop missing me, stop missing me, stop missing me now... please stop missing me. stop missing me. stop missing me now... would you please stop missing me. stop missing me.
stop missing me now
