The sun set down behind the trees
How quickly did my skin
Sense the chill upon the breeze
And i'm uneasy; the night surrounds me as

Dusk ushers out the light of day
A symbol to be sure that my life can't forever stay

There's a day when there will be no night
There's a day when there will be no night
Don't you know the lamb will be our light

Vassal, star and noble moon
Your King comes riding soon
And as i mourn this loss of mine
I'll leave it up for you to shine

Darkness makes the baby cry
So the father sings
A lullaby to drive the tears away.
