You're always my medicine box

How do you heal me?

Laughing beside me, look at that smile

And when you cry, tears really do fall

What's with this ordinary love?

To protect you, that's why I was born

You'll be amazed at how I stay by your side

Your sleeping face, my heart shivers, lion heart

If someday I have a child

I'll love him second best in all the world and tell him

Someday you'll meet someone

Just like I met your mother

Your past filled with the lies of false loves

I'll make up for everything, everything you lost

The warmth that taught me love

The unchanging morning is your tiny heart, angel heart

Your past filled with the lies of false loves

I'll make up for everything, everything you lost

The warmth that taught me love

To protect you, that's why I was born

You'll be amazed at how I stay by your side

Your sleeping face, my heart shivers, lion heart
