

Smart Went Crazy "A Brief Conversation Ending In Divorce"

Visit "A Brief Conversation Ending In Divorce" on MotoLyrics.com

It was the car on the road that everybody swerved to avoid
Cause they thought he was driving drunk But he was only daydreaming about the future without his wife
Whose body was in the trunk Is it normal to tip the sad eyed woman in the toll booth?
Brighten up her starless night? She hands the change back to you and says "no, thank you, darling I'm alright, I'm alright"
Reconciling split languages Birthdays and long term mortgages
Nations have gone to war for less Last words: "I can't live like this" "Well, you don't have to" I thought that we were building something

Visit Smart Went Crazy page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.