I dream that one day
Our voices will somehow fill the earth
With joy forever
I dream that someday
Our wishes will somehow soon come true
And last forever

I dream that one day our songs in some way
Will bring a bright tomorrow
Full of love
Full of hope
Full of joy

I see this one day
When all the world will hear us
That someday when all will stand before us
Singing one song together
Everywhere singing

We are gonna love you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world
We will all respect you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world

I dream that one day
Our voices will somehow fill the earth
With joy forever
I dream that someday
Our wishes will somehow soon come true
And last forever

I dream that one day our songs in some way
Will bring a bright tomorrow
Full of love full of hope full of joy

I see this one day

When all the world will hear us
That someday when all will stand before us
Singing one song together
Everywhere singing

We are gonna love you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world
We will all respect you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world

We are gonna love you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world
We will all respect you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world

We are gonna love you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world
We will all respect you, people of the world
We are gonna make you a better world

A better world...
