I'd have never known just how bad your screws were loose.

A criminal told,

A criminal told on you.

It all came pouring through,

Making things so beautiful

And then so dark and dull.

And when, It all came rushing in,

Making things so colorful

And then so dark and dull.

Pretty, pretty please, don't you let the shadows win.

I could be the lead,

Noises that'll make you... cringe.

Then, it all came rushing in, the colors were so awful,

But so beautiful.

When, it all came pouring in, leaving us so surprised

and

Shocked to realize

We were so surprised and shocked to realize

We were so surprised and shocked to realize

We became alive, exposed on all sides

We were so surprised and shocked to realize

We became alive, exposed on all sides

We were so surprised and shocked to realize...
