From the pages to your head you give up

On trying to make things make sense

We've been losing for quite some time now

Playing the victim card

The temptations, the sin, if we lay down, they will win

We are all that stands

It may look like blind hate from the enemies of the state

Playing the victim card

So bind your sisters' hands for we will be away

For quite some time

Across the desert sands and all across the land

Playing the victim card
