We're sorry
But you're no longer needed
Or wanted or even cared about here
Machines can do a better job than you
And this is what you get for asking questions

The unions agree
Sacrifices must be made
Computers never go on strike
To save the working man
You've got to put him out to pasture

Looks like we'll have to let you go
Doesn't it feel fulfilling to know
That you the human being are now obsolete
And there's nothing in hell we'll let you do about it

Soup is good food
(We don't need you any more)
You made a good meal
(We don't need you any more)

Now how does it feel
(We don't need you any more)
To be shit out our ass
And thrown in the cold like a piece of trash

We're sorry, you'll just have to leave
Unemployment runs out after just six weeks
How does it feel to be a budget cut?
You're snipped, you no longer exist

Your number's been purged
From our central computer
So we can rig the facts
And sweep you under the rug
See our chart? Unemployment's going down
If that ruins your life that's your problem

Soup is good food
(We don't need you any more)
You made a good meal

(We don't need you any more)

Now how does it feel

(We don't need you any more)

To be shit out our ass

And thrown in the cold like a piece of trash

We're sorry, we hate to interrupt

But it's against the law to jump off this bridge

You'll just have to kill yourself somewhere else

A tourist might see you and we wouldn't want that

I'm just doing my job, you know, so say uncle

And we'll take you to the mental health zoo

Force feed you mind melting chemicals

Til' even the outside world looks great

In hi-tech science research labs

It costs too much to bury all the dead

The mutilated disease injected

Surplus rats who can't be used anymore

So they're dumped, with no minister present

In a spiraling corkscrew dispose all unit

Ground into sludge and flushed away

Aw geez!

We don't need you any more

We don't need you any more

Soup is good food

(We don't need you any more)

You made a good meal

(We don't need you any more)

Now how does it feel

(We don't need you any more)

To be shit out our ass

And thrown in the cold like a piece of trash

(We don't need you any more)

We know how much you'd like to die

(We don't need you any more)

We joke about it on our coffee breaks

(We don't need you any more)

But we're paid to force you to have a nice day

(We don't need you any more)

In the wonderful world we made just for you

"Poor rats", we human rodents chuckle

At least we get a dignified cremation

At yet, at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning
It's time to get up and go to work
