Come on motherfuckers

Another heart, another life, just another test
Another murder, another lie, just another death
And ours is to suffer for you always wanting more
And ours is to suffer for you kill all that we adore

I don't need no master to command
I am the law by myself

Paradise is falling down
And you try to leave this god damn town
And your world is burning down
Like rats forsaking a sinking ship

Down to your knees and pray

But we shall all bleed together eternally
For this is the hell we all created

Another heart, another life, just another breath
Another place, another world, just another chance
And ours is to suffer for you always wanting more
And ours is to suffer for you kill all that we adore

(Are we so fucking exhausted with our lifes or just so satisfied with being slaves)

What kind of paradise are you creating here
What the fuck do you expect?

Paradise is falling down
And you try to leave this god damn town
And your world is burning down
Like rats forsaking a sinking ship

Down to your knees and pray

But we shall all bleed together eternally
For this is the hell we all created

With every lie you whisper to our ears

(While you wander through all you created)
A town underfed with love born up from pain (There will be no more water while yor paradise is burning down)

But we shall all bleed together eternally
For this is the hell we all created
