"Wishing To See The Light"

It's very easy to realize
Greed is guiding world today's dreams
We lost the real sense of humanity
What is going to be the end?

I think I already know
The solution to stop this sorrow
I dream about with this sweet pleasant moment
With this happiness
And this utopia becoming real

Before the fight we must be all together
This devastating scene needs to change

Day by day we're still living
This horrifying crazy never ending war just to survive
The shade of the money
Scares away the equality dreams
The distant hope of the general well being

I think I already know
The solution to stop this sorrow
I dream about with this sweet pleasant moment
With this happiness
And this utopia becoming real

Before the fight we must be all together
This devastating scene needs to change
