way too far away
two days have another drink on me now you're finally free
I wish I could make this train go faster than it does
go faster than anything tracks and tunnels covered in snow I should have gone home a long time ago this seemingly endless fight ends tomorrow night
I wish I could make this train
go faster than it does
you and me both abandon all of our hope we leave it for somebody else to find I raise my bow and aim missing every time the same no use being angry at anyone like we've already done

go faster than it does

go faster than anything

go faster than it does
