I would leave the place tomorrow with never a backward glance.
So I laughed and brushed past him out of the Room with my spoon and plate still in my Hands. you're a little tense, '...look at your Hands.' 'but why do you leave me here,
Here's where one goes to have a real good Time.' he said: 'my dear', just after I had Finished my meal out there on the hallway.
Well well, not today. you're a little tense.
Look at your hands from across the hall. 'got to make a call...'
