

Solstice

"Replacing People"

Visit "Replacing People" on MotoLyrics.com

It's easy to be constantly afraid
Of something you cannot ever change
And once again I am amazed
At how reality can spoil a good memory

Lately, my concrete flowers seem to grow
I hardly ever feel empty anymore
I'm done with replacing the people in my life
Just so I could keep telling the same stories

It's always nice to have someone
Who's willing to tell you what to do
And once again I am afraid
That I'm biting more than I can chew

Lately, my concrete flowers seem to grow
I hardly ever feel empty anymore
I'm done with replacing the people in my life
Just so I could keep telling the same stories

I tell her, thoughtfully
Your issues are outstanding
But you don't have to worry,
I can fix you
And she says
You already have
Yes she says
You already have

Lately, my concrete flowers seem to grow
I hardly ever feel empty anymore
I'm done with replacing the people in my life
Just so I could keep telling the same stories

Visit Solstice page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.