Start your car
And drive away
Or roll back over
And fall asleep
Or launch a strike
On half the world
Or lose again
And blame my smile
This is the outside
Not like the inside
Out here we just learned to clean up memory lane
This is the outside
Not like the inside
More swollen nights with a pregnancy of thought
This is the outside
Not like the inside
Last call for crossing the lines I've drawn in the sand
This is the outside
Not like the inside
Not like the inside
No, no more words
Each day there's a problem
Where I'm not the answer
I want to start all over again
