(written by Sonya Isaacs and Craig Wiseman)

Talk about your humble beginnings
A couple long-shots sharing in the winnings
She left you and he left me
But misery found a little company
Just look at us now baby who'd believe

Chorus

Two badly broken barely beatin' hearts
Would find each other, take the clutter
And turn it all into a work of art
What a surprise when I looked in your eyes
And found the perfect parts
Were two badly broken barely beatin' hearts

Yeah the angels really had us going
Thought we were up a creek with nobody rowing
Then they turned the dark to dawn
Made one love right out of two gone wrong
Yeah they knew all along

(Repeat Chorus)

She left you and he left me
But misery found a little company
Just look at us now, baby who'd believe

(Repeat Chorus)

Badly broken barely beatin'
Badly broken barely beatin' hearts
Oh, two hearts
