

Dead to Fall

"Goodbye Regret"

Visit "Goodbye Regret" on MotoLyrics.com

You can hold your breath until You're blue and just lie there dead
Until you're buried in your lies
Because the truth that you've been running from now lies with you
Respects were paid and your promises due

I don't miss you when you're gone
You all look the same before too long
It's your fear of yourselves that pushes you
Back into the arms of another one again

So goodbye to regret
I'm taking back my silence now
So goodbye to regret
I'm taking back my silence now

I hate what you've become Communicating in cryptic codes
And your subversive undertones
Like all the things that you used to say
The aimless nights and the wasted days

I don't miss you when you're gone
You all look the same before too long
It's your fear of yourselves that pushes you
Back into the arms of another one again

So goodbye to regret
I'm taking back my silence now
So goodbye to regret
I'm taking back my silence now

I'm dying to know what
Your fears and your motivations are

These are the things that no one writes about
These are the things that no one talks about

Visit Dead to Fall page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

