You took everything in a single action
Caring only for your instant gratification
You smashed their world
And took everything away

Preying on the helpless children

You took everything in a single action
Caring only for your instant gratification
You smashed their world
And took everything away

The consequences are reaped for your actions
The seed of destruction is sown
And I don't care what you plan to accomplish
And I won't allow you to hurt anymore
Your days are numbered

Preying on their lives
Preying on their souls

Preying on the helpless children
