You are medicated machines in awe of authority (you will obey).

Forcing a life of subjection unto every passing generation.

Taking commands without question (blissful ignorance) in fear of something unseen.

When our time comes in this life do you wonder what survives?

Or have you embraced the truth and renounced this book of lies?

Repent all your sins, or burn for eternity (let them burn).

This is your message and you wonder why this world is without peace?

When our time comes in this life do you wonder what survives?

Or have you embraced the truth and renounced this book of lies?

When you try to make sense of everything you see.

I think you'll find it's not as clear, as you'd like us to believe.

When our time comes in this life do you wonder what survives?

Or have you embraced the truth and renounced this book of lies?

When our time comes in this life do you wonder what survives?

Or have you embraced the truth that this zeitgeist must die!
