Sometimes you feel like your searching for something
But you know that there's nothing there
If you still believe that this is all for nothing,
Why do you really care?

You know it's true
You know it's true

Chorus:

If you can't believe in something that you'll never see,
You better believe in someone that you'll never be

Your faith is like a seed tossed in the ocean
Floating further away from land
It still might wash upon some desert island
To grow roots down in the sand

You know what's real
Do you know what's real?

Chorus:

You stopped believing in something to believe
Your world is more than that which you perceive

Chorus:

So why don't you just believe in me?
