"For Good"

it's big and it's small and it's true it's ash from a note meant for you a secret down under a claw and nobody can see what it's for a language from far away left in the sanddunes of a place that used to be for good

for good...

it's heartshaped, it's round, it's a cross a result of magic and loss it's earth, wind and fire in ice and it lies between the corners of the skies

left in the sanddunes of something we never understood

nobody knows what it was supposed to sound like in a place that used to be for good for good...
