we come together one and one and nothing seems to get in our way well, i guess we've been around too long 'cause we got no more records left to play a childhood's dream to take you down a wish to find the keyhole to your spine but the music in our mind is gone and nowadays it's hard to change a name well, i may not have a reason to make this straight but i'll just have to laugh when you're filled up with hate

while you try to turn me on...

'cause in your world there's no need to escape in your world you can't go your own way because it's a world you can't bring back today so why do you cry?

a mirror man i god jr's klan he wants to lighten up what is past and everybody waits for him to see just how long he will last it's here today, tomorrow is the world they'll tell you all about it on the screen and read about his life and dreams a brand new brand in next weeks magazine

but i just have to laugh when you show off too late while you try to turn me on...

in your world you can't go your own way
because it's a world you can't bring back today
so why do you cry?
