Did you think that I'd disappear?
Did you think that I'd wash away?
Did you think that I'd last this long?
Did you think that I'd get this strong?

Everytime they try to make me change they just wear me down with more chains

And it feels like that you with me or against me
that your promises are all mine
and it feels like
that to push me is to shove me
that the only way is the wrong way

Did you think that I'd could be your cruch Did you think that life could mean so much Did you think that this could end in birth?
Did you think that this was just plain old luck and everytime that try to make me change that just wear me down with more chains

And it feels like
that your promises are all mine
and it feels like

that your promises are all mine

and it feels like

and it feels like
that the only way is the wrong way

the only way is the wrong way
