all of these dreams in my head keep spinning round I'm grabbing my paper and pencil to pin 'em down I'll sketch my world as a prettier place draw my self with a smiley face and make this picture perfect but all of these lines on my page won't mean anything until I learn to erase the ones that I don't need I'm covering up the stupid mistakes and starting over and over again to make this picture perfect

I'll start with where I'm standing now and keep in check where I want to be no one can tear my picture down because it's me
and as long as I'm still proud of this self portrait I'm creating I'm doing fine
ya doing fine

every now and again someone comes along they try to box me in to a corner I've drawn but pushing the walls down and struggling free makes me strong so I can keep making this picture perfect ye-yeah

chorus:

ya doing fien ya and what I'm sketching doesn't have to be anything fancy

no

I'm just shaping stronger sides of me of me, of me ye-yeah

chorus:

I'm doing fine x2

I'm doing fine
