Some kind of evidence
Some kind of reason,
Why I can't find a way to begin my life
Somewhere in this dying day
If I could only find a way for my escape,
I find it hard to concentrate with all my best mistakes..)
To begin my life
(I can feel my fate...
Can't recall my crime, I think I see my fate
Along the way I may have lost my mind
I guess we're all damaged in our own way
Loved in our own way
Distant headlights; desolate highway

Chorus:
Sun doesn't rise at all,
Who knows how far I'll fall,
Sun doesn't rise at all,
Who knows how far I'll fall

With eyes wide open
Can't recall my crime, I think I see my fate
I can watch my world evolve
Loved in our way, I think I see my fate
Nothing left to die for
Can't recall my crime, I think I see my fate
What's inside can make me crawl
(I think I see my fate)
(Both) Make me drop down on my knees,
(Both) Break me down until I question me,
(Both) Darkness can destroy my drive

Chorus:
Sun doesn't rise at all,
Who knows how far I'll fall,
Sun doesn't rise at all,
Welcome my downfall

( Sun doesn't rise at all)

(Somewhere in this dieing day,

As I plan my great escape,
I find it hard to concentrate,
While you've been in control
Now my feelings falter, an empty altar's all I give to you
I pray it makes me whole
I break the mirror that reflects my empty soul

(I can feel my fate...
Can't recall my crime, I think I see my fate
Along the way I may have lost my mind
I guess we're all damaged in our own way
Loved in our own way
Distant headlights; desolate highway

Chorus:
Sun doesn't rise at all,
Who knows how far I'll fall,
Sun doesn't rise at all,
Who knows how far I'll fall

(I can feel my fate,
Carried all my crime,
Damaged in our own way
Loved in our own way
Desolate highway
