Tired but I ain't sleeping
Thinking about some sad affair And why i should be leaving cos some of these thoughts
Only seem to take me outta here
These habits are so hard to break and they're so easy
to make
These habits are so hard to break and they're so easy
to make

Thinking about tomorrow tired form all the time I spare On what I still believe in When none of my talk ever seems to get me anywhere
These habits are so hard to break and they're so easy
to make
These habits are so hard to break and they're so easy
to make

So long bye my friend so long
So long will it ever happen again
You know that I've been waiting for you
I've been creating for you so long
You know the light ain't fading form you Nothing could save me form you, so long

Tired but I ain't dreaming falling into solid air
And why I must be leaving or one of these days
I'm gonna pull out all my hair
These habits are so hard to break and they're so easy
to make
These habits are so hard to break and they're so easy
to make
So long, bye my friend so long so long will it ever happen again
You know that I've been waiting for you
I've been creating for you so long
You know the light ain't fading from you
Nothing could save me form you so long
