I thought the hypnoses had crossed too many lines
Nobody asked for u to be my fucking savior
I was alone when I was spitting on my pride
Nobody cared for what I tried with my behavior
Jumping on the core shot
Jumping all around
Jumping on the core shot
Slaughtered!
The sense of absence overcoming my horizon
The undesired posing , crawling down his head
Like that you see it's all behind a dreadful cover
First read the book and then go judge up on a man
Jumping on the core shot
Jumping all around
Jumping on the core shot
Slaughtered!

Laying on the crossroad
Laying on the ground
Jumping on the long shot
Slaughtered!
Jumping on the core shot
Jumping all around
Jumping on the core shot
Slaughtered!
Descending lower scared to see my reflection
My strength so far I can not reach for my self
In this great dyne so powerless and confused
I just let go but still it happens again
I broke my bones up on a still made wall
The only thing I cared, those fucking illusions
Reacting to the world the best I could
Waiting for my own wall to melt by my fusion
