so let me have my sanity
because iâ'm not the same since i lost my mind
and from this moment on
we will talk in turns
we will walk in lines
we will bide our time
making ourselves well
just across the sky
underneath the waves
in between the hours
of our darkest days
we will greet the space in arms of loving grace can i get through to you?
in my silent way
before you lose your mind before you become me before we become one
before we lose the sun
in the silent calm
