"Where Did You Go"

So save your breath for the rest of this relationship cause it will get harder and harder for us to breathe and when you fall find my hand to help you stand again cause times will get harder and harder than these

Where did you go
I thought I'd be the first in line to know you know that I have trouble letting go and when the world has taken everything you have to give I promise I will never say I told you so

We'll prove two people can stand when everybody else is falling apart in a world that keeps ending I know you and I could make a new start my days go by.
