What do you do when the things you once had aren't what they were anymore?

Remember the day when you sat right here and to be with you forever I swore Faces you knew come along that don't look like what you remember at all

Pictures that stay in your mind and don't leave but still end up somehow different than before Perfect picture of you and I, fading faster and I think I know why

Gone without me to the other side

Must I follow leave the old me behind Change, it spins us round and bends us down, turns us inside out

Change, it melts us down and moulds us round

Into who we are, into who we are, into who we are.
What do you do when it's hard to recall the things you miss the most

10 000 miles away from the place you used to call home sweet home

Memory fades and it comes well it goes, you'll forget it all Perfect picture of you and I, fading faster and I think I know why
Gone without me to the other side

Must I follow leave the old me behind Change, it spins and round and bends us down, turns us inside out

Change, it melts us down and moulds us round

Jokes you used to tell, the way things used to smell,

Expressions on your face wouldn't want it any other way

I'd whisper in your ear, always hold you near,

we were heading for the ground, didn't ever want any of it to change.

All those happy thoughts, I never did give up

Always tried so hard until reality walked in my door

The lighting it grew thin, the flame it grew too dim.

Do you wanna change the real person that you are today?

What do you do when the things you once had aren't
what they were anymore?
