These faces are tired
These faces are wrecked
People chasing dreams that are never coming back
Everybody's searching for a way to fill these voids
Only to realize these holes are bottomless

There's no way out of this alive

There's no way out of this at all

You can't use those things you take as a substitute
For things that were never really even there
(They were never really there)
But what other choice do we really have?
(What other choice do we really have)
Should we all just lay down and die?
No...

There's no way out of this alive
There's no way out of this at all
There's no way out of this alive
There's no way out of this at all
